

Positive Reception for the New DigniCap Delta

In June Dignitana received FDA clearance for DigniCap Delta[®] allowing the new device to be used by U.S. health care providers. The fourth generation of The DigniCap[®] Scalp Cooling System has been very well-received by clinicians and patients. The first U.S. installation was made at the University of California, San Francisco

(UCSF), followed by New York-Presbyterian David H. Koch Center, Moffitt Cancer Center, UCLA Cancer Center Santa Monica Parkside. Installations at Cedars-Sinai Tower Hematology Oncology Medical Group, University of Pittsburgh Medical Center and other locations are happening throughout the month.

DigniCap Delta received CE Marking in March allowing for sales to facilities in Europe. DigniCap Delta installations thus far have been completed in Italy and the United Kingdom.

Ovarian Cancer Survivor Named as Dignitana's newest DigniCap Dignitary

Dignitana has appointed ovarian cancer survivor Sharon Yapoujian as a DigniCap Dignitary – the company's patient advocacy and ambassador program.

The DigniCap Dignitaries Program is a group of individuals who have used the DigniCap Scalp Cooling System and are passionate about increasing awareness about scalp cooling treatment for chemotherapy-induced hair loss. As more cancer centers offer scalp cooling to ovarian and other solid tumor cancer patients, Yapoujian will be of great help to many patients.
